Dear Prof. Syed Ainul Hasan,

As you are aware, the India Universities and Institutions Network for Disaster Risk Reduction (IUINDRR-NIDM) was established by the National Institute of Disaster Management (NIDM), Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India, in line with Agenda-6 of the PM's 10-point on Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR).

2. In this regard, NIDM has undertaken various initiatives to mainstream DRR into higher education. A significant recent development is the inclusion of Disaster Management as a subject in the UGC-NET examination. To further these efforts, we request you to consider initiating degree programs in Disaster Risk Reduction and Management at your institution. If needed, NIDM may provide technical support in this direction.

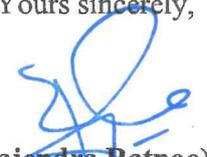

3. Additionally, NIDM is also pleased to inform you about the establishment of the National Disaster Risk Reduction Research Facility. This facility is aimed to promote and strengthen the research in the field of DRR. It will provide a platform for young minds to innovate new research through the NIDM Doctoral Fellowship Programme and it also offers opportunities to the academicians to collaborate on Research Projects to provide solutions for disaster challenges faced by states and districts across country. Detailed information is available via the QR code below or at nidm.gov.in.

4. As an esteemed member of IUINDRR-NIDM, I request you to encourage the faculty and students of your esteemed institution to apply for the opportunities available under the Research Facility. For any queries or concerns, please write to iuindrr.nidm@mha.gov.in. NIDM looks forward to a fruitful partnership aimed at enhancing disaster resilience and mitigating risks for our nation.

Best Wishes!

Yours sincerely,

(Rajendra Ratnoo)
