PROPERTY LAW (BWLW105CCT)

Course Outcome:

Property is the essence of socio-economic life of an individual in a society. Judicially property means a bundle of a rights in a thing or land. The word property has gradually been given a wider meaning to include every kind of proprietary or quasi-proprietary claims including intellectual property. However, the economic significance of property rests more and its disposition rather than on its abstract content. The basic principles involved in the transfer of property are studied in this semester. For the purpose of study, the Transfer of Property Act is divided into two parts. First part deals with the principals involved in the transfer of property whereas the second part deals with the Specific Transfers.

BUSINESS LAW (BWLW403DET)
(SALE OF GOODS AND PARTNERSHIP)

Course Outcome

This course aims to instill an understanding on how certain special types of contractual transactions are regulated by law, through both legislation as well as judicial pronouncements. It lays out the framework for learning conceptual and applied aspects of business law. Key emerging areas such as implications of e-commerce on sale of goods law, and limited liability partnership have been included. It provides a contextualised examination of contract law to understand how law allocates for the economic risks involved in commercial transactions.

It enables the learners to appreciate the impact of special contracts on the changing business environment, synthesize the acquired knowledge and apply it to solve practical problems arising from statutory framework.

The first unit examines the points of divergence of special statutory provisions for certain kinds of contracts from the parent contract law. It also evaluates the effect of Sale of Goods Act, 1930 on the freedom to contract envisaged in the classical theory of freedom of contract. Mapping the history of codification of the Sale of Goods law in India, it examines the nature of contract of sale and the aspects that distinguish it from other commercial contracts.

The second and the third units deal with the fundamental principles governing the transactions and the legal implications of a contract of sale of goods. It analysis the impact of the key emerging areas like e-commerce on the sale of goods law.

The fourth and fifth units deals with the legal and regulatory framework governing a special vehicle for conducting business- partnership firm. It looks at the junctures distinguishing it with other forums for conducting businesses, operational issues between business partners, and hybrid form of partnership envisaged under the limited liability partnership law.

Teaching-Learning Methodology

Methods of learning are combination of lectures, classroom discussions and case studies. Audio visual tools and power point presentations are used where relevant. As this branch of law comprises statutes and decided cases, the interpretation is an important aspect of teaching-learning. Course Outcome:

The law of evidence provides the parameters for determining facts within the adjudicative process, and thus the manner in which the adjudicative process defines truth. These facts are the basis of findings of liability in civil and criminal proceedings. Counsel require an informed appreciation of the law of evidence, so that they can advise clients with respect to preserving evidence in anticipation of litigation and criminal proceedings, and properly use that evidence in subsequent proceedings.

The outcomes of this course are:

1. To introduce students with the substantive law of evidence and consider how the law of evidence is applied in practice;
2. To help students in identifying principles of fairness and conceptualizations of justice underlying the law of evidence; and
3. To assist students to explore issues of professional responsibility related to preserving and using evidence.

LEGAL THEORY – II (BWLW602CCT)

Course Outcome:

This course in Jurisprudence is designed, primarily, to induct students into a realm of questions concerning nature of law. Therefore, The subject is concerned with the important sources of law and is also concerned with important questions like, what is law, what are the purposes of law?, the relationship between law and justice and the like. One important branch of Jurisprudence consists in analysis of legal concepts. For instance, the law of contract and tort is concerned with different rights which one person may have against another. Jurisprudence studies the meaning of the term —rights| in the abstract and seeks to distinguish various kinds of rights which are in theory possible under a legal system. Similarly, it investigates other legal concepts such as legal personality, ownership and possession and tries to build up a general and more comprehensive picture of each concept as a whole, in addition the student have to familiarize themselves with the concept like Administration of Justice. Thus any academic discipline, must develop in the student the capacity for critical thought. Legal education needs to teach both law and its context- social, political and theoretical.

Objectives of the Course:

- To enable the students to engage with the justification that may form the basis of any law
- To familiarise them with competing rationales based on various philosophical approaches
- To build their capacity to analyse and assess social, economic, political and cultural grounding and implications of varied and competing notions of justice and consider the probable effect of adoption of any of them especially in the context of India
- To develop their skills in applying these varied notions while engaging with challenges involved in determining the issue of a just approach in any policy matter
- To acquaint them with various concepts adopted in law and the ideological roots of those concepts together with other competing rationales
- To stimulate their thoughts with regard to how concepts get constructed historically, socially; how are they moulded to address new contexts and with what implications
- To expose them to the critiques of the dominant concepts, the challenges they are faced with and to encourage them to explore ways of thinking which lay well beyond those informed by the dominant discourse.

LL.B. VI SEMESTER
LAW OF EVIDENCE- II (BWLW603CCT)

Objectives:

Law of evidence is a procedural law and guides us as to how process of proving facts in legal proceedings is regulated. Teaching focuses on what evidence may properly be used to persuade a Court of the truth of a party's claims, the extent of a judge's powers to exclude some forms of evidence, and the rationale for exclusion. The students get an insight into how the law of evidence provides the parameters for determining facts within the adjudicative process, and the manner in which the adjudicative process defines truth. These facts are the basis of findings of liability in civil and criminal proceedings. Hence the students are made to understand how the objective of the Indian Evidence Act is to prevent laxity and negligence in the admissibility of evidence and to introduce a full-proof and uniform rule of practice than what was previously used. The course structure is designed to introduce the substantive law of evidence and identify principles of fairness and conceptualizations of justice underlying the law of evidence.
