The Interested candidates may get more information about the Department and its course curriculum through the University website www.manuu.ac.in.

In contemporary education system, Master of Social Work (MSW) is a popular professional course which is in demand. By the virtue of its unique features, the course goes beyond classroom teaching-learning process through fieldwork training as its one of the core components. The students are exposed to comprehensive field training under any government and non-government organizations or in open communities.

The course widens the horizons and avenues of employability opportunities for students which forms the popularity of this course in terms of employment. The social work professionals are hired in various welfare departments of government institutions, non-government organizations, companies, hospitals, schools and in other related developmental fields.

The Department of Social Work of Maulana Azad National Urdu University, Hyderabad offers Ph.D. and MSW course through Urdu medium with a nominal fee. Along with classroom teaching and field work training, skill lab has uniqueness of its own kind through which students are engaged into various meaningful activities. It enhances their skills and develops a value orientation among them. One of the peculiarities of the department is that most of the MSW students get through some local and national level organizations at the end of their course. Though their average salary is 20-25 thousand in initial phase but over a period they, on account of their consistent hard work, get a speedy hike. Students have to spare two months as an intern in any reputed organization once during the course and again after the last semester of the course. Many students are being hired by their concerned agencies.

The passed out students of the Department are working in My Choices, SAFA Society, PRATHAM, Magic Bus and other organizations within Hyderabad. Several students are associated with Piramal Foundation, NASVI, Save the Children, CARE, PRYAS, Help Age India, AIIMS etc., in different states on important positions. The testimonials of these students are also encouraging the department as many of them have reported back how their learning experiences have helped them to work efficiently.
