to the pandemic and the lockdown thereby, the need to shift from traditional mode to online mode was felt and implemented effectively. 21 programmes relating to professional development of teachers have been organised in the last 3 years. The year wise and type wise distribution is illustrated above.

Topics Covered

A plethora of topics covering a wide range of themes and concepts have been covered during the programmes, keeping in mind the requirements of the participants. To cater to the needs of the teachers from across different levels of the school system and varied subjects, each topic is carefully selected and its feasibility scrutinised for the maximum benefit of the participants. We have in mind not just the professional development of teachers but also the growth of students who are taught by the participating teachers. Suiting to the needs of the Indian Education system, and adapting to the changing scenario from conventional classes to online to now hybrid mode classes, in the last 3 years, we covered topics ranging from Inclusive Practices in Teaching to Creative Thinking to New Education Policy 2020. To strengthen the computer skills of the teachers for conducting online classes during the pandemic, workshops on E-Learning and Basic Computer Skills were included in our programmes. School Leadership in Digital Age, Managing Finances and E-Governance, Reflective Practices, Creative Thinking and Writing, E-Resources in Urdu, Technology Enabled Evaluation, Critical Consciousness and Madrasa Education, Doing Research through Urdu Medium, Research Ethics, Presentations and Collaborative Tools, Language Competencies for PRT were the topics covered, to name a few.

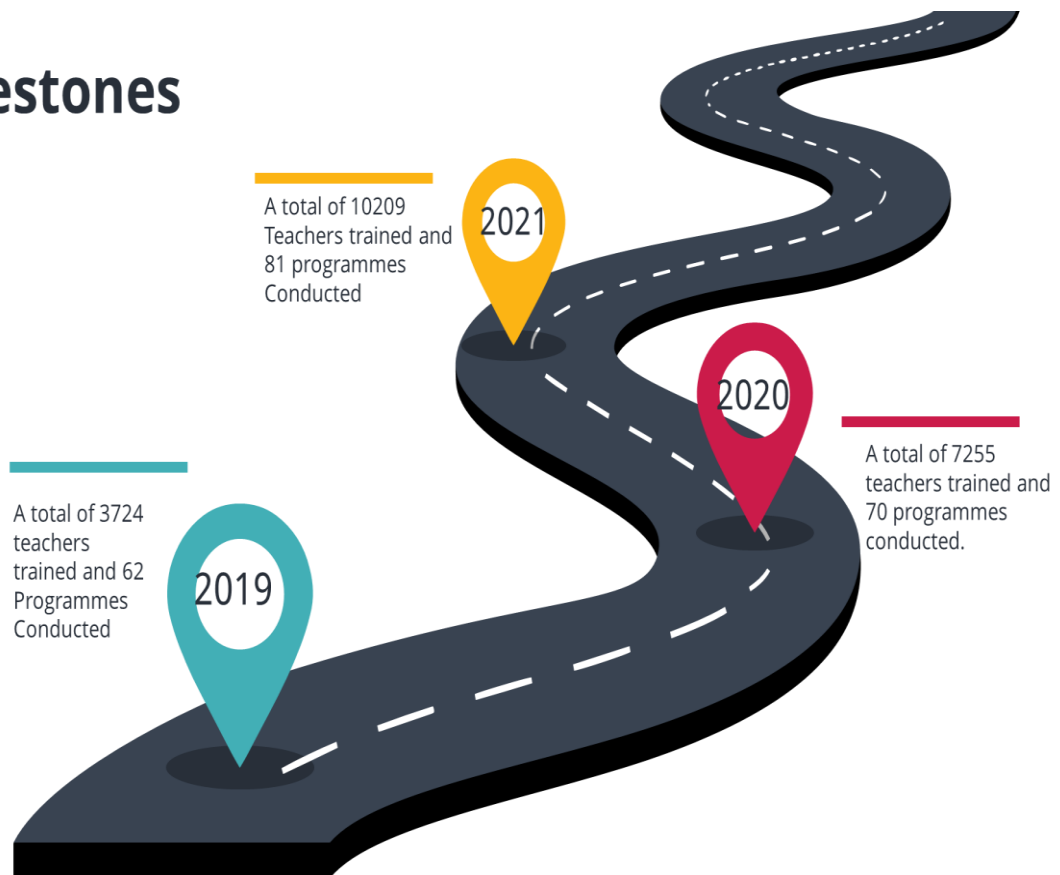

Outreach

By 2019, the Centre had trained 3724 teachers from Urdu medium schools and Madrasas. The online mode helped in reaching out to more teachers in a very short period. In fact with every passing year the number witnessed an increase of almost 3000 thousand teachers reaching to 7255 in 2020 and then the milestone of 10209 in 2021.

Milestones

The centre strives towards reaching the unreached, incorporating an inclusive approach to imparting training. All the programmes are available on the YouTube channel of MANUU IMC, which has benefited not just the participating teachers as a future reference, but also other teacher trainers, research scholars, student-teachers and viewers in general. Quite a few videos of programmes live streamed on YouTube have garnered more than 4000 views, a popular among them being “One-Week Online Workshop on Action Research”. A screenshot of the same can be perused below.

Our Resource Persons

The Centre strives for excellence in imparting training to teachers, and hence resource persons and guest speakers are invited from across the country to deliver their presentations on a varied range of topics. From distinguished professors of universities to academic experts, we have our resource persons from Jamia Millia Islamia, Aligarh Muslim University, and State Education Departments pan India. A large group of the experts is from different departments of MANUU. Resource persons have the combination of good training ability with technical skills, most of them having decades of experience in teachers training. Also, they have the requisite expertise in both pedagogical methods, innovative teaching, and applied skills, turning out to be excellent trainers, helping the participants in acquiring knowledge and reinforcing their proficiency. For the online programmes, every resource person used ICT tools during their session and shared their PowerPoint Presentations along with other material with the participants, supplementing them with information to be used for their own classes later.
