BIOGRAPHY

---

Dr. Mohd. Rashid is an Assistant Professor of Law at MANUU Law School, Maulana Azad National Urdu University (MANUU), Hyderabad. He holds an LL.B. degree from Shibli National College, Azamgarh, Uttar Pradesh, and an LL.M. in Personal Laws from Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi. He was awarded a Ph.D. in Muslim Personal Law and has academic as well as professional experience in legal education, research, and litigation.

Prior to joining MANUU, Dr. Rashid served as an Assistant Professor of Law at Shibli National College, Azamgarh, Uttar Pradesh. He has also been enrolled as an Advocate with the Bar Council of Delhi, New Delhi, and has gained professional experience in legal practice.

His principal areas of academic interest include Islamic Jurisprudence, Muslim Personal Law, Hindu Law, Law of Torts, Jurisprudence, and Legal Research Methodology. His research interests particularly encompass contemporary legal issues relating to Muslim Personal Law and the interface between law, society, and religion.

Dr. Rashid has presented research papers at various national seminars and conferences on diverse legal issues, particularly those concerning Muslim Personal Law. His academic engagement reflects a keen interest in legal research, critical inquiry, and the development of a deeper understanding of personal laws and jurisprudential issues.

At MANUU, he is actively involved in teaching, student mentoring, legal aid initiatives, and academic administration. He is committed to fostering legal scholarship, critical thinking, research aptitude, and practical legal education among students. Through his teaching and academic activities, he seeks to contribute to the development of socially aware, ethically grounded, and professionally competent legal graduates.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Dr. Mohd. Rashid's research interests primarily focus on Muslim Personal Law, Islamic Jurisprudence, and Comparative Personal Laws, with particular emphasis on contemporary legal issues arising at the intersection of law, religion, society, and individual rights. He is particularly interested in examining the development and contemporary application of Muslim Personal Law in India, including issues relating to marriage, divorce, maintenance, inheritance, and family relations. His research also explores the interaction between traditional principles of Islamic jurisprudence and modern legal frameworks. He has a keen interest in doctrinal and socio-legal research and seeks to contribute to critical discussions on personal laws, legal reform, constitutional values, and access to justice. Through his research, he aims to promote interdisciplinary inquiry and contribute to contemporary legal scholarship and legal education.
