ENGLISH LANGUAGE FOR REAL GROUND

Teaching and learning programs are well and good

Campus placement, Focus on more Technical practical

Everything is well n good, they have to be active in campus placement area which is very week in Manuu campus, they have to be more initiative regarding new technologies which is running in market, they have to give some skills improvement classes where students can improve there soft nd communication skills, and I guess if we talk we are from cs background then we should feel proud so management have to consult with companies, they have to be more realistic in placement area which is very necessary for growth of students as well as our university.

Focus on real time projects and make student aware of latest technologies.

Placement and career enhancement

Nothing, All Good

No specific comment on the course work in the Department of English. Generally, MANUU shoud focus on improving research culture, environment, and funding. Additionally, curriculum and syllabus should be revised in such a way that will help students from Urdu and economically disadvantaged backgrounds learn effectively and, at the same time, enabling them with skills required for employment-market. That is to say, Urdu/poor background students should be given admission on priority, and should be taught in a bilingual mode.

I would recommend to change the teaching style. Teach them as well as tell them what is required in the real world. Help them with internship so that can understand how real world working on technology

All are good
