Abstract

The National Mission for Empowerment of Women (NMEW) was launched by the Government of India (GoI) on International Women's Day in 2010 with the aim to strengthen overall processes that promote all-round Development of women. It has the mandate to strengthen the inter-sector convergence; facilitate the process of coordinating all the women's welfare and socio-economic development programmes across ministries and departments.

The Mission aims to provide a single window service for all programmes run by the Government for Women under aegis of various Central Ministries. In light with its mandate, the Mission has been named Mission Purna Shakti, implying a vision for holistic empowerment of Women. The National Resource Centre for Women has been set up which functions as a national convergence centre for all schemes and programmes for women. It acts as a central repository of knowledge, information, research and data on all gender related issues and is the main body servicing the National and State Mission Authority.

All the policies are effectively lighting on the women empowerment in the field of economic, social, political and cultural factors in respective work, life lead and development with progress. In this paper, I discussed about the various national and state level policies effecting on women's in various areas.

Introduction

Women Empowerment refers to the creation of an environment for women where they can make decisions of their own for their personal benefits as well as for the society. The term "empowerment of women" refers to the process of providing power to woman to become free from the control of others, that is, to assume power to control her own life and
